

Survival

Read the following selections. Your group must decide who will be included in the group of survivors from a nuclear war.

While holding a neighborhood block party at your home you learn that the United States has been the victim of a wanton and deliberate nuclear attack. You had the foresight to install in your backyard a bomb shelter that will hold an additional seven people besides your immediate family. Because of the early hour, only ten of your guests have arrived at the barbecue. You can save only seven of the ten people. Remember the ones that are not selected will almost certainly die. You must assume that your group will be the only survivors of this nuclear disaster. It will become your responsibility to reestablish society/civilization on the planet.

2. A 26-year-old Hispanic female who can no longer have children.
